

Mike is the catalyst that helps spark mid-career entrepreneurs with great potential to put their vision into action for big impact.

Intentionally adding energy at the right time, the right way, with the right person allows impact to go interstellar and set off a cosmic ripple effect. The multiplier effect of entrepreneurial success extends through generations.

Mike is a renowned business coach, seven time bestselling author, featured podcast guest speaker and producer of The Social Movement TV series. His Grow Get Give philosophy and training holds the keys to success of the world's most successful entrepreneurs.

Mike's recently launched Total Quantum Impact process lays the groundwork and a methodology to realize your personal and professional dreams, while quantifying your impact for life.

He lives, loves and adventures in Squamish, BC, Canada with his wife Sherri and their two young adult children.